FREE BIODIESEL CLASS AT NORTHWEST IOWA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

There are some misconceptions about biodiesel fuel. It is a clean-burning alternative fuel, produced from domestic, renewable resources. Biodiesel is simple to use, biodegradable, nontoxic and essentially free of sulfur and aromatics. If you want to learn more about this clean alternative fuel you can attend a 3-hour class that will inform you about biodiesel and its performance in diesel engines.

Northwest Iowa Community College, in partnership with the Iowa Biodiesel Board, is offering a FREE biodiesel education class on Wednesday, December 2, from 6:00 – 9:00 p.m. in the Auditorium in Building C. Come early for free pizza, compliments of the Iowa Biodiesel Board.

Class size is limited and preregistration is required. To register contact Continuing Education at 712-324-5061 or 800-352-4907.
